

Kellie's Soon-To-Be Happy Ending

Thanks to your generosity, Kellie is ready for her forever home.

Kellie is an adorable little orange bunny who came to the shelter in January 09 because her owner realized that her tiny apartment filled with cats, did not have enough room for an active young bunny girl.

It was not very long after her arrival when Kellie had her accident; jumping out of the arms of caring volunteer. Kellie landed on top of her wire cage catching her leg in the rungs causing her left femur to fracture when she panicked. She needed surgery!

After many phone calls to veterinarians near and far, we finally found a vet who agreed to repair Kellie's leg at a cost that the ARL could realistically work with. A call for help was put out and soon the donations began to trickle in to help off set the cost of Kellie's operation and volunteers were recruited to help with all of Kellie's transportation needs.

Soon Kellie had her surgery; a pin was inserted into her femur to hold the broken bones together, allowing them to heal properly. A volunteer stepped forward to foster Kellie in her home while her leg healed and there Kellie spent the next 4 weeks.

On March 12th, Kellie's pin was removed, she was spayed and returned to the shelter whole again! Kellie is now waiting for the 2nd half, and most important part, of her happy ending to come true...for a forever family to find her!

Kellie's story could have had a much different ending if it weren't for the kindness of volunteers donating their time and strangers donating their hard earned money for an animal they never met. Thank you to everyone who contributed their time, efforts and prayers for our little Kellie!
