

Addie

An update on Windy, the kitty I adopted a couple of weeks ago, who we have renamed Addie; Attached are a couple of pictures of her in her favorite places-- she spends a lot of time lounging in the window seat watching the backyard, or sleeping on her back in our bed, which is adorable. She is a very affectionate and easy going kitty, so it has been a joy to have her as part of our family. Our vet just loved her, and she got a totally clean bill of health, no issues at all.

She has been fine with our dog, but not so much with our other cat! The two cats stay away from each other most of the time, and when they do come across one another, usually from across the room, one of them will hiss, and the other one will walk away. I am guessing this is not unusual, and hopefully it is a good sign that there has just been noise, but no actual fighting? Considering they are 8 and 9 years old, I knew there would probably be a long adjustment period, but I still hope one day they may actually enjoy each other's company...we'll see!

Thanks a lot for caring and for taking such good care of her while she was at the shelter!
