

MR. MURPHY

On December 27, 2011 we decided to stop by the ARL to visit the cats. Well, of course, we came home with a new member of our family!

Murphy (or Mr. Murphy as I like to call him) has become very comfortable at our home. He loves to curl up and help keep us warm. In fact, if he sees you on the couch with a blanket it only takes a few seconds before he makes himself a spot on your lap.

It took a little bit to figure out his eating schedule, but now there's no worry because he isn't afraid to use his voice to let us know he is hungry. He is definitely talkative in the morning, might start relying on him as an alarm.

Even though Murphy is older, he still has playful moments with his toys. He likes you to play with him and even though he doesn't have his front claws, he still has a good grip.

It is great having a pet in our home again! Thank you so much for bringing us together..
