

A little history: Sam had been adopted by another family as a puppy and returned a year later because the family had no time for him. Sam was adopted by his current family in early April, 2009.

Here's what Sam's new family has to say about him:

"He fits in like a family member."

"We can't believe the bond that was developed between Sam and our 2 ½ year old daughter Isabelle. They are so good together I can't express it enough."

"I have never adopted before and to be honest never really considered it for myself. I always assumed that all "shelter dogs" we're there for a reason. But now I know that was a foolish thought and I couldn't be happier with the outcome of our new family member addition. "
